AT THE ILLINOIS.

The "little nonsense now and then," which is relished not alone "by the best of men," but by everybody, and which always forms such a delightful diversion in Howe's Travel Festival will be as much in evidence as ever on the forthcoming engagement at the Illinois theatre three days commencing March 3. Without a doubt these clever comedy conceptions largely explain why Howe's productions are educational without the terrors implied by that grave adjective. Among the features of the new program may be mentioned a pictorial excursion to the Fifth of North bridge, Scotland; to France, Italy, Holland, Madeira, Switzerland, Glacier National park, and an aeroplane ride above the clouds during which spectators experience the unique sensation not only of an aerial flight but also of peering through rifts in the clouds to vistas of great stretches of terra firma far below. Besides there will be some distinct novelties which at the same time prove the possibilities latent in cinematography. A marvelous example of this class shows animals moving at a speed eight times slower than normal. The result is weird and uncanny yet of absorbing interest because it shows details of these movements which the human eye never has or could detect. Another film curiosity that is equally instructive shows the curious formations of metals during crystallization. Of marine scenes there is a visualization showing the rixors and dangers to which a torpedo boat is exposed during a terrible gale on the high seas. Its bow is repeatedly submerged and huge waves sweep over the entire length of the decks.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

In "Perils of the Park," to be seen at the Majestic today and tomorrow, Alice Davenport as a jealous wife has some amusing misadventures with Harry Gribbon as a lively husband. The fun starts when Alice catches Harry embracing Marie Manley, who plays the maid. Harry has given the maid a locket, but to win back his wife he steals it again and gives it to Alice. This engenders the maid, so Gribbon gets Harry McCoy, in the role of the gardener, to get back the locket. McCoy sees Alice's purse and takes the contents as well as the locket. Gribbon takes Marie to a cabaret. He looks in his purse and finds no money. He goes out and sees Alice in the park. He manages to get her purse out of her handbag while she is looking the other way. He returns to the restaurant and eats dinner with the maid. Then he finds the purse is empty. Out he goes again. This time he sees the gardener and takes the money from him. McCoy is angry at Gribbon and complains to the police. Alice joins the police, when they enter the cabaret. She makes a scene when she sees Gribbon putting the chain of the locket around Marie's neck.

AT THE BURTIS.

Horace Annesley Vachell, the author of "The Chief," in which John Drew is to be seen at the Burtis on Saturday, matinee and night, is an English author who attained celebrity through a number of capably written books of fiction. Two years ago, at the age of 59, he turned his attention to playwriting, and in the meantime has enjoyed the gratification of having four of his pieces presented. They are "The Case of Lady Comber," at present being done in England; "The Quinceys," which has been given here and liked; "Searchlights," presented by Mrs. Campbell and "The Chief," in which John Drew is being seen. The last mentioned comedy had its first production on any Guess this one: Why is "Tux" the one non-bite tobacco? Sure! you got it—because no imitator has ever yet solved the riddle of the "Tuxedo Process," of course.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

That "Tuxedo Process," by the way, has had 'em all guessing for a long time. It was invented by a physician years ago, and it remains today the original and best process for making tobacco mild, wholesome and healthful, and for removing every trace of bite.

"Tuxedo has made a pipe my favorite form of smoking. Its coolness and mildness make pipe-smoking a real pleasure."

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Gilbert M. Anderson, the "A" in Essanay, has sold his interest of part owner in the Essanay Film company to G. K. Spoor, the "S" of the partnership. Mr. Anderson, who is known around the world and back again as Broncho Billy, has made no announcement of his future plans, though many rumors about his future affiliations are floating about New York, where he now is.

Another late Essanay star, Charlie Chaplin, is also in New York. When Chaplin first joined Essanay he and Anderson entertained guests at a moving picture ball with a dance that was unanimously declared the funniest thing ever seen.

Why don't they put it on the screen for all the Chaplin and Broncho Billy fans to laugh over?

American Stars are Best of Pals.

When Anna Little learned that Rhea Mitchell was to become a full-fledged American star she hastily planned a warm welcome and a dance. Rhea has appropriately been nicknamed "Ginger," and she and Anna Little were good pals in the days when they worked at Inceville. Rhea now feels quite at home among the many players she used to work with who are now at Santa Barbara. Among them are Frank Borzage and Tom Chatterton.

Miss Mitchell will make her first appearance as an American star in "Overalls." No, she doesn't wear 'em, because she is a society girl, but there is a foreman of a construction camp who wears 'em.

Fritz Brunette Makes Debut Soon.

Fritz Brunette, the emotional actress, makes her initial debut in the Selig Red Seal play, "Unto Those Who Sin," to be released through V-L-S-E on March 8.

Miss Brunette enacts the role of a poverty-stricken working girl, who, lured by a life of luxury, find that, after all, gold is gross and that the pleasures of the world are not worth the love of a pure man.

Miss Brunette, said to possess one of the most elaborate wardrobes in motion pictures, wears 18 beautiful gowns in this production, and her work will certainly appeal. Her supporting cast is a most excellent one.

Everyone who saw "The Golden Chance," with Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid, and those who didn't see it but wish they had, will be glad to know that this handsome pair will again appear as co-stars in "Behind the Mask." It is a shame to put either of 'em behind a mask isn't it?

Poker chips were selected by Mary Miles Minter, the little Metro star, the other day as a gift to a Canadian soldier starting for the front.

Bessie Eyton is equipped to play in almost any role. She can swim, play tennis and golf, ride, dance and drive a car.

FEBRUARY NO IDLE MONTH FOR POLICE

Police of Moline were kept busy during the month of February. Eighty-six arrests were made during the 29 days. As usual, the largest number of these was for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The most striking feature of the month's report, however, was the number of accidents. The day and night patrol drivers were kept busy and during the month answered 81 calls for the ambulance and hauled 84 patients, of whom 13 had been injured in accidents, one of whom had been frozen, and another who attempted suicide. The remaining 66 calls were "sick" calls.

As usual, February was one of the heaviest months for the cops. In all there were 886 of the hobs allowed to sleep in the bull pen at the station during the month.

TICKETS FOR BIRD LECTURE SELL FAST

The bird lecture to be given by Burdett H. Wilson at the Rock Island Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening promises to have a large attendance. The boys who are having charge of the sale of the tickets report great success. The net proceeds of the lecture are to be evenly divided between the Rock Island County Bird club and the boys' department. Mr. Wilson promises to show slides of birds that have never been shown in this vicinity before and the lecture should prove highly interesting as well as instructive. Many of the school teachers of the city are planning on being present at the lecture, so that they may have first hand information as to the plans of the bird club. Tickets to the lecture are 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.
